

Brian Kemp's top aide is leaving...

State government for a gig with one of the state's most prominent regulatory law firms. David Dove is headed to the Robbins Firm in October, where he plans to focus on municipal and election law litigation. He was Kemp's chief of staff for nearly two years, and previously served as his deputy general counsel and interim director of the office's elections division.