

Firm Assists with Expansion of Hospital Services Without Certificate of Need Review

Robbins Firm attorneys recently assisted Eastside Medical Center in Gwinnett County in reopening its emergency department at the South Campus without Certificate of Need ("CON") review. The South Campus will continue to provide inpatient psychiatric and rehabilitation services, and it will continue to operate under the same license as Eastside Medical Center. The approval was granted over the opposition of another Atlanta area hospital, and it marks the first emergency department in Georgia that is not physically attached to a general, acute care hospital.
