

Special Matters

You know it when you need it. We handle many highly confidential and personal matters for individuals and companies, including:

- Celebrity representation
- Civil government investigations
- Family disputes involving significant family assets
- Sensitive governmental inquiries
- Employee dishonesty
- Embezzlement and kickback schemes
- Claims of moral turpitude, fraud, and potentially criminal actions
- “Ponzi” schemes and other investment fraud
- Consumer protection issues
- Matters involving coordinated political and legal resolutions
- Business divorces

Representative Matters

Due to the highly sensitive nature of these matters, we only provide limited information regarding our representative matters. Some of our clients include:

- High-level executives who are victims of harassment or false accusations
- Sophisticated businessmen who were victims of a real estate investment scheme
- Companies and individuals investigated by the Governor's Office of Consumer Protection, which is now the Georgia Department of Law Consumer Protection Unit, for alleged violations of consumer protection laws
- Celebrities in partnership and royalty disputes
- Educational institutions with donor and trustee disputes
- Sisters who were sued by their brothers regarding the family real estate holdings
- Victims of targeted internet and social media attacks, including on Facebook
- Professionals falsely accused of improprieties or personal misconduct
- Judges accused of alleged improprieties
- Companies with employees who embezzled money from the company through complex fraudulent schemes
- A charitable organization adverse to a celebrity
- A real estate developer who was a victim of a “Ponzi” scheme
